

I am angered at Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary. The showing will be just days before the election and is a clear example of media consolidation and bias.

It seems Sinclair is trying to control the airwaves by forcing their ideas on the public. This is an example of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you, Barbara Page
